EDITORIAL

Dear PhD candidates,

On behalf of the Postgraduate Studies Department, we would like to wish you an excellent and productive academic year 2022-2023. You have decided to study for a doctorate at one of the Communauté d'Universités et Établissements (ComUE) Paris-Est graduate schools and to work towards the highest academic degree anywhere in France and the rest of the world.

Preparing a doctorate in research and through research is a demanding undertaking. It will enable you to acquire major skills that will be your assets for the future. We are here to help you fulfil your goals and, when the time comes, support you in making the best of this first professional experience.

The roles assigned to the Postgraduate Studies Department and to the graduate schools, the courses provided, the access to documentary resources and, of course, the high level and quality of the research units you belong to, as well as the support of your thesis supervisor, will all contribute to your success.

This year, the catalogue of courses proposes some new features and continues to offer you even more seminars to help you write your thesis and reinforce your skills: pedagogical innovations, scientific ethics and integrity; sustainability; gender equality, prevention and fight against sexual harassment and sexism; career advice; entrepreneurship; brands and patents; well-being and conflict management; languages, etc.

As young researchers, you will take part in scientific events held on the Paris-Est site (research seminars, graduate schools days; "My three minutes thesis" competition; Summer school, new academic year day, doctoral degree award ceremony, thesis prize ceremony, etc.).

Mobility support options are also available. The acquisition of a "European Doctorate" label or doctoral partnership is highly valued.

In this guide, you will find all the information you need to become familiar with this environment: the services available to you throughout your PhD preparation, from the registration procedure to the defence of your thesis, and the best way to participate actively in the institutional life of your graduate school, your institution and, more broadly, of ComUE Paris-Est.

Very best wishes,

BÉNÉDICTE FRANÇOIS

Vice President in charge of Doctorate

Created in 2007, Communauté d'Universités et Établissements (ComUE) Université Paris-Est brings together 17 institutions characterised by the diversity of their goals and ministerial associations. Together, they form Paris-Est Sup, the higher education and research community covering the eastern part of the Paris region.

As a public scientific, cultural and professional institution (EPSCP), ComUE is overseen by the Ministry of Higher Education and Research.

Historically, the whole Paris-Est Sup site was built around two main geographical areas: Cité Descartes in Marne-la-Vallée and the Créteil /Maisons-Alfort site. It also has numerous offshoots in the region, corresponding to the UPEC and Gustave Eiffel University campuses, as well as at national level with the latter's different campuses.

As part of a shared project, ComUE is responsible for :

- political coordination on issues of mutual interest,
- providing political representation for its members on issues that fall within its remit,
- shared PhD instruction,
- the emergence and development of common academic and scientific projects,

It contributes to the reputation of its member and partner institutions at local, regional, national and international scale.

> THE DOCTORAL SYSTEM OF PARIS-EST SUP

Within the context of the shared PhD instruction, Paris-Est Sup's doctoral support system manages the registration and certification of PhD candidates with this four ComUE member institutions jointly accredited for PhD support: École des Ponts ParisTech, École nationale vétérinaire d'Alfort, Université Gustave Eiffel and Université Paris-Est Créteil.

ComUE Paris-Est supports and manages the common graduate school and is responsible for defining and implementing shared doctoral policy.

THE PHD STUDENT ENVIRONMENT

Students work on their thesis in a research centre (host research team), under the care of an authorised thesis supervisor. The process normally lasts for three years or six in part-time (order of August 26, 2022 amending the order of May 25, 2016 establishing the national framework for training and the procedures leading to the award of the national doctoral diploma).

The monitoring of PhD students is organised by the administrative assistant in the doctoral school concerned, under the coordination of the Department of Doctoral Studies.

> THE RESEARCH CENTRE/HOST RESEARCH TEAM

The research centre is where you will work on a daily basis. You are a full member of it. It provides both your academic environment and financial and physical resources.

You must respect operational rules, particularly with regard to schedules, leave, confidentiality, the IT charter and health and safety.

> THE DOCTORAL SCHOOLS

Paris-Est Sup comprises eight doctoral schools: six for which it is responsible (CS, MSTIC, OMI, SIE, SVS and VTT) and two for which it holds joint accreditation with Université Paris-Saclay (ABIES and SP).

The doctoral schools, within the Department of Doctoral Studies, organise courses for PhD students. They guarantee the academic quality of the theses produced and ensure that the process runs smoothly.

Cultures and Societies doctoral school consists of research teams in the fields of humanities, arts, human sciences and social sciences.

THE DEPARTMENT OF DOCTORAL STUDIES

The Department of Doctoral Studies (DED) ensures that PhD students are well integrated into their research teams and prepares them for professional life. It organises Université Paris-Est's transversal doctoral courses which are designed to ensure that students acquire proficiency in languages, an all-round education and knowledge of the business world and to prepare them for entry into the labour market. It assists the Doctoral Training Council (CFD) in the implementation of the shared doctoral training policy defined by the latter.

The Department of Doctoral Studies also proposes cross-disciplinary training (languages, general culture, entrepreneurship, teaching, etc.) for approval by the CFD. It then organizes the courses selected by the Doctoral Education Council.

The Department of Doctoral Studies encourages and provides support for international mobility for PhD students (mobility and joint supervision bursaries).

acc&ss Paris-Est is an EURAXESS service center hosted by Paris-Est Sup and dedicated to international mobile doctoral candidates, researchers, and scholars on the site.

It provides support both before their arrival and during their academic visit to France: finding accommodation, obtaining a visa, applying for a residence permit, the health insurance system, general insurance, enrolling children in school, opening a bank account, tax, family residence permits, etc.

acc&ss Paris-Est also organizes French courses, cultural evenings, and outings

> INSTITUTIONAL LIFE

THE REPRESENTATION OF PHD CANDIDATES ON INSTITUTIONAL BODIES

PhD candidates are represented on the council of the graduate school they belong to according to the procedures set by its internal rules.

A representative of PhD candidates for each graduate school sits on Paris-Est Sup's PhD Training Council, which sets the shared policy for doctoral training and ensures that it is implemented.

Within ComUE Paris-Est, representatives of the students and PhD candidates are also elected by indirect suffrage to ComUE'S BOARD OF DIRECTORS, which decides on the institution's policy by deliberation..

PhD candidates also have seats on the bodies of the institution with which they are registered :

- Academic Council, student parliament or education and university life committee at Université Gustave Eiffel and UPEC;
- Teaching and Research Council at École des Ponts ParisTech;
- Education and Student Life Council at Alfort National Veterinary School.

COMPLETING A DOCTORATE

Throughout your PhD preparation, you will be able to maintain contact with your graduate school's administrative assistant, who will provide you with the information you need and support you at every step.

The PhD course lasts three years full-time and six years part-time. An additional year can exceptionally be granted subject to the submission of a request providing reasons and with the approval of your thesis supervisor and the director of the research unit.

The points that follow feature in the internal rules of the graduate school to which your support team is attached.

Please make sure that you read and understand them.

> DOCTORAL AND ETHICS CHARTERS

The preparation of a PhD thesis depends on the agreement reached between you and your thesis supervisor. This agreement covers the choice of subject and the working conditions necessary to the progress of the research. The thesis supervisor and candidate are therefore bound by respective rights and duties of the greatest stringency.

The doctoral charter defines these reciprocal undertakings by reference to the ethical principles that underpin the rules and to already existing practices, while respecting the diversity of disciplines and institutions.

The institution undertakes to act in such a way that the principles it sets are respected in the case of theses prepared in a joint institutional framework. At the time of registration, you and your thesis supervisor, the director of your host team and of your graduate school, together sign the text of the dock for charter established by Paris-Est Sup.

A specific ethics charter specifies, for all the institutions on the site, the obligations of PhD candidates with respect to scientific accountability and integrity, issues of plagiarism and data falsification and intellectual property and data usage rights. Each candidate must sign this charter when registering. In addition, compulsory training will be provided by the Graduate Studies Department to make all PhD candidates aware of the importance of these rules.

 Download the doctoral and ethical charter of Paris-Est Sup on :

<https://www.paris-est-sup.fr/doctorat/textes-et-documents-de-reference/>

 Download the doctoral charter on your doctoral school's website

➤ SUPERVISION OF THE THESIS

Supervision is provided to ensure that the thesis process runs smoothly; the details of the system may vary from one doctoral school to another. You may be asked to produce an annual progress report to obtain approval to re-register.

Each PhD student is assigned a personal monitoring committee which is responsible for ensuring that the thesis process runs smoothly. The committee meets with the PhD student as well as with the thesis supervisor, to assess how the course is going and how the research is progressing. Its approval is required before the student can register for 3 years. The committee strives to prevent all forms of conflict, discrimination or harassment.

➤ COURSE RE-ENROLMENT

Course re-enrolment is done entirely online, initially with your graduate school via the Adum Internet platform. Your graduate school's administrative assistant will subsequently ask you to contact the tuition department at your institution in order to finalise your administrative registration.

➤ THE THESIS DEFENSE

The doctorate ends with the defense of the thesis in front of a defense committee.

Permission to defend the thesis is granted by the the administration of your affiliated institution on the recommendation of the thesis supervisor and with the approval of two external examiners.

You must also have completed a certain number of hours of doctoral courses (vocational training, languages...) (see training requirements p. 34). These courses are validated by the doctoral schools.

➤ LEGAL DEPOSIT

After the thesis defence, the institution must deposit your thesis on theses.fr and the SUDOC (University documentation system catalogue). If your thesis is not confidential, and you agree to it being published on the internet, your doctoral thesis will be available via TEL, HAL and Dart-Europe (the European thesis portal). If you do not grant permission for it to be published on the internet, your thesis will only be retrievable by authenticated access via the Paris-Est Sup intranet.

REGULAR MIEE EVENTS

The MIEE events (themed lectures on topical issues where experts discuss and exchange points of view) provide a valuable addition to the knowledge and skills of PhD candidates. These events also provide an opportunity for candidates to orally present their work. They are organised with numerous partners in the work and research world, who offer opportunities for a variety of careers.

TALKING TO HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS AND STUDENTS

PhD candidates can also take advantage of occasional opportunities to talk about their research practice to high school pupils and students at UPEC. Or else they can take on a more regular commitment to SCUIO-BAIP's career guidance and advice activities by becoming paid student ambassadors.

EUROPE AND INTERNATIONAL

➤ JOINT THESIS SUPERVISION

- The joint supervision arrangement enables PhD students to :
  - register at two universities,
  - conduct their research in the two universities under the supervision of two thesis supervisors,
  - earn a doctorate from the two universities.
- Under joint supervision arrangements, two research teams can work together on a particular project and PHD students can benefit from dual supervision.
- An agreement is required between the two thesis supervisors. This agreement must be approved by the two universities and should set out the joint supervision arrangements.
- A joint supervision request should be made when the PhD student registers for the first year.
- Paris-Est Sup funded 11 joint supervision bursaries in 2022.

➤ INTERNATIONAL MOBILITY SUPPORT

- Paris-Est Sup offers international mobility grants for its PhD students. These grants are designed to fund (in whole or in part) trips of 2 months or more to foreign countries only.
- Paris-Est Sup funded 20 mobility grants in 2022.
- In the case of joint supervision arrangements, grants are also available to cover expenses associated with the trip and the journey between France and the host country.

The Université Gustave Eiffel and the Université Paris-Est Créteil also offer mobility grants to their doctoral students. This financial aid, granted under certain conditions, allows them to finance their stay abroad.

➤ EUROPEAN DOCTORATE

- The “European Doctorate” consists of a traditional PhD qualification’ plus a “European label” certificate issued by Université Paris-Est and signed by the Chancellor. The “European label” can only be issued when four conditions have been met. The PhD student may then apply when the thesis defence is being organised :

1. The doctorate is prepared for at least one term in a European country other than the country where the thesis is going to be defended;
2. Permission to defend the thesis is granted on the basis of reports produced by at least two lecturers from higher education institutions in two different EU states other than the one in which the thesis will be defended;
3. At least one member of the defense committee comes from a higher education institution in a European country other than the one where the thesis is defended;
4. Part of the defence is conducted in a European language other than the national language(s) of the country where the thesis is defended.

This system is separate from, but can be combined with, the joint supervision arrangement.

The label does not appear on the PhD certificate but, as an annex to this document, it forms a powerful tool for showcasing doctoral training around the world.

This label is offered by the ComUE Paris-Est and is therefore reserved for PhD students who have chosen to enroll in..

- Practical arrangements:

If you wish to obtain the “European label”, simply inform the administrative assistant in your doctoral school before you defend your thesis.
